In comparing the performance of two catalysts on the effect of a reaction yield, a two-sample t-test is to be conducted with $\alpha = 0.05$. The variances in the yields